Iodine, which has figured largely in public discussion because of its importance in the prevention of goiter, is a gift of the rocks and not of the air, as has often been supposed. The idea that it floats inland from the sea as a gas in the atmosphere was dispelled by Prof. J. F. McClendon of the University of Minnesota. Careful analysis of the air fails to show a trace of the gas. Iodine is carried by the air, it is true, but only locked up in dust particles; and dust is minutely fragmented rock. The Count further charges that Deputy Sheriff Harvey Bell of Los Angeles county, who took him to San Quentin crison in November, 1923, took from him $35,892.55 and placed it in a San Rafael bank keeping the receipt himself.

The copy of a report to the Labor Department, in the possession of Van Keegan, states Bell remembered the transaction, but was unable to find the receipt.

REST OF LOSSES

The rest of his losses the Count divides as follows: $116,800—which he says mysteriously disappeared from his safety-deposit box in the First National Bank of San Diego.

The Federal authorities, however, did investigate his thirty-five $1000 he says he had in secount in the Citizens' Commercial and First National banks of Los Angeles, also while he was in Folsom prison.

Out of more than $300,000 cash, a $23,000 Rolls-Royce car, $20,000 worth of jeweiry, and twenty wardrobe trunks filled with clothing, which the Count says he had in his possession when he first became involved in difficulties with Federal and California State authorities line years ago, his attorney said he now has left less than $20,000.

As to the $35.000 which Sichofsky asserts "disappeared" while he was in prison, the sum is definitely traced from Los Angeles to San Quentin and Folsom prisons where former officials in the prisons declare it dwindled away in attorney's fees and personal expenses of Sichofsky.

Count Sichofsky knew of the plaintiff in the civil action only as "a Mr. Emanuel" and rever found out what the suit was all about or why it was brought against him. The $4200 he say: in dispatches "disappeared" when he was rearrested in Los Angeles after an appeal from a grand-larceny conviction failed in November, 1923, definitely was traced down by Tomo O'Brien, chief investigator for the District Attorney.

The records show that the money was transferred to the satisfaction of Dr. O. M. Justice and S. Levine from whom Sichofsky was convicted of fraudulently obtaining $7500 in a fake oil deal. The money was transferred through the law firm of Cooper, Collings & Shreve, Sichofsky's counsel, and the receipt and satisfaction papers were signed by Justice Levine.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (Ex-

According to the notice, the applications "should state the quantity of power desired, and should contain a general statement concerning the purposes and place of use of the power with such other information as may be considered necessary."

This early submission of applications is desirable, the Department stated, "in order that a decision may be reached concerning the allotment of power to be made available by this development."

The Interior Department cannot actually enter into contracts until a basic rate for the power is fixed, by the present Denver or a later conference. Nor can it make contracts until the six months' prjority given the Colorado River States on power has expired which will be in a December. However, it wants to be prepared to make allotments and write contracts at the sariiest possible moment in the pierest of getting the Boulder Dam project starting the Boulder Dam project st

POP WARNER'S FINE HAND BY THE newspaper headlines from the north one observes that the nativer of that locality are lining up the football teams of the Pacific Coast Conference much in this fashion—Southern California, Stanford and California with Washington and Oregon leading the remaining members of Washington and Oregon leading the remaining members of the conference.

Inasmuch as this information emanates from north of the Tehachapi I suspect the fine hand of Mr. Glean Scobey Warner of Stanford has figured in the rating.

With the exception of last fall the eminent Mr. Warner has never failed to put his strongest rival in the preseason nine hole. This has generally been the team coached by Mr. Howard Harding Jones of the University of Southern California, the result being to make the Trojans the favorites in the minds of the public at large whenever the rivals tangled.

The general purpose of this deep strategy has been to make Mr. Warner a here if his team won, a martyr if it lost. Mr. Warner's foot slipped last year, and woe was the result. The finest material Mr. Warner over coached (he admitted it) never came to life until the last half of the game against California, and from there went on to humiliste the Army at New York.

This year Mr. Warner apparently has reverted to the tactics of old. Stanford will not be the favorite in anybody's mind.

will be the under dog. His copyrighted stories before the start of the season indicate the state of the old fox's mind.

In psychology he is already one step ahead of Mg Jones.

GEORGE SIMPSON AND FOOTBALL

GEORGE SIMPSON AND POOTBALL

N EWS stories also relay the information that George Simpson, who has taken Charley Paddock's place in the sprint world as the "fastest human," will be a candidate for the football team at Ohio State University this fall.

Mr. Simpson is the man who pulled a muscle at Boston in trying out for the Olympic Games' team last year.

Mr. Simpson is also the man who pulled a muscle in the national intercollegiates at Chicago last spring.

Mr. Simpson in addition is the man who pulled a muscle before the national A.U. track and field championships started at Denver this summer, and was unable to perform.

And now Mr. Simpson is going to play football, a game which does more to break down and tear leg muscles to places than any other sport in the world.

Under the circumstances there is only one good guess left—Mr. Simpson is through with the track, or at least with record smashing.

If he plays football this fall he never again will approximate the $1.5a.—a new world's record—with which he was credited this spring.

And he likely will be of no great value to the Buckeye football team in spite of the fact that the boys point to his high school record as a feotball player with considerable elation.

Hewever, high school football is not college football as Mr. Simpson will discover.

Many other great track athletes have taken up football late in their Vie Cameron, who played football under Matthews at Idaho, will take care of the varsity pigukin troubles at Hoover. After graduating from Idaho in 1926, Cameron went to Endicott High in Washington, where he lung up a phenomenal record. In the fall of '77 Endicott won the Washington State football championship, ran off with the Eastern Washington basketball title and never did lose a haseball game playing all the northwestern college freshman teams along with their regular grep schedule. Endicott High has an enrollment of only about 625, of which half are hops, so it can be seen this young Vie Cameron must have put in some extra hours' work in order to bring home the bacon.

In order to bring beene the baseon.

Last year Cameron coached the bases over at the Broadway school, but was put in charge of the varsity aggregation at Hoover when the change was made.

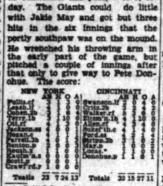

As this is the first year Hoover has ever had athletic teams, their chances for champioships are rather vague. However, Cameron promises a tough eleven right off the bat. Masami Tamura, a Japanese halfback from the Hawaiian Islands is a cinch for one of the backfield positions. Cameron seays he is one of the best prospects to has ever seen. Tamura is left-handed and can pass, run and kick as the case may be. O'Brien and Robinsom, two tough Irishmen, are slated to take care of the ends.

Jean Hibbs, younger brother of the illustrious Jesse, is enrolled at Hoover but will watch the boys from the bleachers this year. The cherished hopes of Big Bill Tilden for his seventh national singles crown trembled in the balance for a few dramatic moments under the spirited onslaught of 19-year-old Frank Shields, in another third-round match.

In the end Tilden's stamina carried him to vistory by scores of 2-8, 6-1, 14-12, 6-4. Shields, weary and it limping from a painful fall, was hardly able to stand at the end of the two-hour struggle while the 36-year-old Tilden was comparatively fresh.

at League Resumes Arbitration and Court Debate

hina Raises Question of Treaty Revision

GENEVA, Sept. 10. (P)—Elated with the successful launching of his proposed United States of Europe, Premier Aristide Briand of France today left Geneva for Paris and the League of Nations Assembly turned toward other problems.

The plans for compulsory arbitration of international disputes and for America's adherence to the World Court of International Justice have been given great impetus at Geneva, and today the Assembly considered another subject likely to contribute to world peace, the putting into effect of one article of the League covenant which has been interfective during the ten years of the League covenant which has been interfective during the ten years of the League covenant which has been interfective during the ten years of its spokesman, C. C. Wu, who proposed that the League exercise its

for the abrogation of the "unequal

The proposal by Mr. Wu created considerable interest in view of the possibility that some time in the future Germany might be able to introduce the question of the revision of the Treaty of Versailles.

ARBITRATION STRIDES

The idea of compulsory arbitration of international disputes is making big strides forward at the tenth Assembly session of the League of Nations. Interest of statesmen at Geneva is again concentrating on the immense possibilities of the Permanent, Court of International Justice for the consolidation of world peace and as effective machinery

There is a general expectation that the United States now will accede to the World Court. The question being asked is whether the Washington government will not take even a further step and sign the compulsory jurisdiction of the court. This clause bestows the right upon one party to a dispute negative page of the compulsory another headers.

BRITAIN TO SIGN
Premier Muscolini of Italy has manifested his intention to subnit disputes to judicial processes. Within the past twenty-four hours at General both Italy and Osechoslovakia have accepted compulsory rebitration for the settlement of Great Britain has announced she will sign the arbitration clause and Prance is about to make her prerecently joined this movement and today it became clear that Brasil also will accept its provision.

The Peruvian delegation today introduced a resolution asking apnintment of a committee of five to study and report to what extent the covenant of the League might be revised to bring it into tonformity with the Kellogy-Briand untiwar pact.

To Buick, pioneer of four-wheel brakes, now falls the distinction of another major achievement in this same vital field: the development and introduction of Buick Controlled Servo Enclosed Brakes-the most effective four-wheel braking system ever devised for any automobile!

Buick's new brakes are of the highly efficient internal-expanding type. They are fully enclosed-fully protected against dust, dirt and water-and thus assure maximum braking effectiveness under all weather conditions.

They represent the highest development of the self-energizing principle, which makes the car's own motion provide part of the braking effort. They reveal unmatched responsiveness to the slightest pedal pressure. And they are so perfectly controlled that "grabbing" is entirely unknown! When you apply these brakes, you obtain the most positive, as well as the smoothest and most

The humble log cabin, the frame dwelling, the rambling wooden tavern, all are passing with the years. The forests of old are fading from our mountains.

Building methods today replace the giant timbers and woodwork with crushed rock, sand and gravel, easily handled and poured by efficient machinery. Fire-proof, enduring, attractive, it builds for the future

Pacific Coast Aggregates, Inc., through its predecessor companies, has a record of successful and profitable operations in the San Francisco Bay region. It handles a substantial majority of the crushed rock, sand and gravel business and possesses the most valuable commercial deposits in this area. Pacific Coast Aggregates, Inc.

THE NEW G.O.F. CHIEF

The choice of Claudius H. Huston as chairman of the Republican National Committee is—on President Hoover's part—a gracious gesture and a sound part—a gracious gesture and a sound political move.

In addition to his high ability as an organizer and political leader, the appointee is placed well geographically—a not unimportant consideration. Mr. Huston was born in Indiana, "reared" with Tennessee and lives to the property of the control of the Republican National Committee is—on President Hoover's part—a gracious gesture and a sound political move.

In addition to his high ability as an organizer and political leader, the appointee is placed well geographically—a not unimportant consideration. Mr. Huston was born in Indiana, "reared" with the United States a close third. But in another year Uncle Sam may be in the van. New flying routes are being opened every day.

THE GRAPE INDUSTRY

One day there was a fear that prohibition would wreck the grape industry in California. Back in 1919 there were about 200,000 acres in grapes in this State. Some of the growers threatened to tear up their vines But few of them did. They concluded to carry on. Now there are nearly 700,000 acres in grapes and the growers get twice as much for their product as the wineries paid them. As a matter of fact, there is an overproduction of the fruit, but the growers manage to dispose of the crop at figures that make the old days look mighty lean. So far as California grapes are concerned, prohibition was a boost rather than a knock.

DABILIA SHOW

The great dahlia show at the Bitters of the word of California have there been so many and such splendid dahlias. There are blooms almost as big as a Russian sunflower and tiny forms like the charming Eolland variety, Jeweitje-"Little Jewel." Connoisseurs from all over the country will be present. Society will be there in force, in fast, anyone who has eyes to see will revel in the rich loveliness of color, shading from rose to deep crimon and from white and cream color to deep fiame tint and to orange. The great majority of these brilliant flowers are of California origin and whoever wants to know what's going on here in the line of floriculture should not miss seeing the splendid work of California hybridists and growers.

Back East, "California dahlies" have a ganding of their own and an embable one. Since Luther Burbank staked his claim at Santa Ross men interested in floriculture have been conditions and climate extraordinarily suited to their work. Not only do these keep condeveloping new and rarely interesting forms, but California flower-growers and plant-breeders each year at the dahlia show offer new flowers and hybrids from Southers California gardens.

All backgrounds.

It is a gesture by which Mr. Hoover makes it clear to all political-parties and to the world at large that the day of the "Solid South" has peased. Section-and in the "Solid South" has peased. Section-and in the selection and him one will hear it de-parting footsteps with tears.

Ne candid person in Washington can honestly pretend to any great measure of stunned surprise. This kind of thing has been going on for years. The Shearer disclosures brought no mortilian shrigs from the political wise ories at the capital. But the effect on "The Spokesman of the White House" was lieved to be confidential government information, the source of which he did not know.

Obviously Shearer has earned something substantial, but it is scarcely likely to turn out be $250,000.

The case of the great shipbullders presents a different problem. If the inferential charges are true they should be made to answer to the American public. The offense alleged is prester than is involved in the huge sums of money sought to be wrung from a scarced public. The danger of war rises from and rests upon the state of mind of the public. Nothing has caused so many wars as terror implanted in the public consciousness. In pressing into the public mind a state of "nerves" that would result in a general demand for great fleets of warships, war propagandists of every description are playing with fire. Not being innocent children, they must realize what they are doing. If any be found to have deliberately embarked upon such propagands—peddling to make money for himself—he merits the severest punishment that can be visited upon him.

Every one is entitled to his day in court. The shipbuilders are entitled to there. They are entitled to this much consideration: that they should not be convicted in the public canaciousness without a hearing—upon the statement of a confermed blatherskile.

Huston was born in Indiana, "reared" is a test of reality. By this meter men in a merica in divers places and of divers had contacted the political life of America in divers places and of divers had contacted the political life of America in divers places and of divers had contacted the political life of America in divers places and of divers had contacted the political life of America in the contact the

America in divers places and of divers shades of opinion.

His appointment is not, however, to be viewed as one solely of polities. In the larger sense, the destinies of the Republican party are, and probably will be for some time to come, the destinies of the nation. Mr. Huston is a tried executive in business life, having builded up a success in the business world—a success which he has signified his intention of throwing overboard to devote all his cess which he has signified his intention of throwing overboard to devote all his time to the activities that stretch out before him.

The sharp point of interest connected with his appointment in the public mind will be Mr. Huston's southern affiliations and backgrounds.

It is a gesture by which Mr. Hoover makes it clear to all political parties and to the world at large that the day of the "Solid South" has passed. Sectionalism passes out of politica with this selection and ho one will hear its departing footsteps with tears.

cher of San Diego saw that a lot of almost be arren land could be made into a place of beauty and production by conserving the water which every winter scoured through the San Dieguito Canyon and interested Col. Henshaw of San Francisco in the project. They ran short of money, but instead of giving up they induced W. E. Hodges of Santa Barbara, a vice-president of the Santa Fe Railway, to look over their project, the Santa Fe interests owning a large block of unprofitable land in the area to be benefited. Hodges was so impressed that he agreed to buy out Fletcher and Henshaw, provided they would invest the money they received in developing another big dam site northeast of Escondido. As a result, the first project, now known as Lake Hodges, has made the entire south coast south of Oceanide a place of beauty and progress, sustaining about four times as many people, not counting San Diego, as it did before; while the second project, known as Lake Henshaw, has done the same thing for the back country centering around Escondido and Vista. Driving through that area the other day we passed community after community which wasn't on the map a few years ago, but now is a thriving town or prosperous agricultural settlement.

Where Farmers Wear Golf Panis

One of those agricultural communities, Rancho Santa Fe, has been written up by the Saturday Evening Post, the American City Magazine and Others as one of the model "rural town" developments of America—a community which is planned to include about 400 families on estates taking up about as much part as of america and about Banehe Banta Fe that we aren't soing to say more, but we believe it is the only agricultural community—every tract except a few around the golf course, but we believe it is the only agricultural community—every tract except a few around the golf course is developed as a fruit orchard—in which the plowman homeward trods his weary way from the golf course, wearing knickers and swinging a mashle or brassle or what are they? Lee: Will Rogers's digs at our very high, high tension wires around airports reminds me. A few years ago a local studio made a picture of a story of New York by—well, by me, if you insist. A high-powered young lady scenarist did it into the scenario. One seene she wrote describing the heroine after the installment folks had carried out the furniture, went somewhat as follows: "She looks out the window into an alley with a tangle of telegraph and telephone poles and wires."

There are no poles and wires ... "There are no poles in Manhattan. Wires are carried in conduits. The Holly-wood lady scenarist who dealt so casily with New York life came from Kansas, and never had been east of it.—X. N. Yorker. The deliciously funny thing about the foregoing is that, despite the phony signature, we know it comes from Walt Sinclair, who, before he ever saw a ranch, became prominent in New York as a writer of Westerns and came out here for the express purpose of selling a group of 'em to the studios."

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

The American millionaire and the American school-teacher are going in greater numbers to Germany and the British Isles and in less numbers to France, and France itself is no longer oblivious of the reason.

Not only is tribute at special rates customarily levied at every turn on the American tourist by French shookaspers, hotels, guides, taxis, cares, places of historical interest, but the French sovernment looks on him as an opulent source of legitimate public revenue and has been levying on him all the traffic would bear and, as it supears, something more. He is scaked with disembarkstion taxes when he comes, with so-called luxury taxes designed to bear particularly on strangers while remaining, and with embarkation taxes when he goes away. England and Germany have no such taxes and, besides, have raised large sums for advertising their national charms, while of a proposed $300,000 has with difficulty been raised. That France is thinking of abolishing its nuisance taxes on tourists indicates how serious the situation has become, and it will be season shows a slight falling off in tourists from the United States.

over eisty molyent banks with an estimated deficit of $40,000,000. Probably no one State has had more publicity and has lauded the guaranty plan more highly than Nebrasia. Yet the system there as elsewhere, is a hopeless wreck.

In Mississippl it is estimated that should no further failures occur the $1,000,000 deficits would be met through assessments by 1938.

Are They Good Figures?

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I see much in the press these days about the big United States Recismation Service engineers that are to build the Colorado River aqueduct and dam.

In view of the fact that of the many United States Reclamation Service projects only two were an economic success, due to the work costing from two to four times what the farmers were promised it would cost and the economics in the conception of the project being neglected, I wonder if Southern California should trust their purses to this group. It seems President Hoover contemplates dispensing with this bureau by turning over the public lands to the States. With the following figures as evidence, he seems to be justified:

Project Estimate Cost

....$5,650,000 $10,549,000 .... 2,700,000 9,096,000

To the Editor of The Times: After a somewhat proionged stay in Europe, it is with rather a shock one notices in America, especially "out west," the apparent continued demand for jammusic, fortrots and their attendant alushy sentimental songs such as are broadcast by radio. But is the demand really equal to the supply? Judging from the applause which greets such music as is paid for by tens of thousands of people during the Bowl season, it is surprising so little "good stuff" is afforded us in comparison with the cheap twaddle now coming from the broadcasting stations. Another shock is experienced through the inordinate amount of advertising one is forced to listen to before realizing the thing for which one is waiting. Even in the midst of a beautiful symphony the gloribus sequences of the music must be broken by a sudden break, with the raucous admonition of a—"don't forget, folks, if you want real bergain in used cars, ring

"don't forget, folks, if you want a real bargain in used cars, ring up, right now—" etc., etc. Or on Sunday, a fine organ recital will be interrupted in the middle of a bar to thrill one with the information that Sam somebody and his blues-chasing orchestra will now entertain you.

TTERNAL FEMININE SPIRIT RETURNS IN NEW MODE

Flattering Frills and Softer Curves Mark Revolt from Mannish Trend of Recent Years

For, even though, as some have recognized, fashion is truly logical, evolving one mode from another in natural sequence, the final revelation is likely to be one not anticipated and seemingly olutionary.

Thus with the longer skirts. To the discerning, these have been on the horizon, beginning with the floating panels, at back and sides, in an earlier season.

HATS TURN UP Hats, wearied of crowding down the eyebrows, sought a change; and what change more natural than to turn up, off the face? But, to follow the artistic line, brims must droop, must correspond with the long low lines of milady's silhouette. But, fearful lest they be not accepted by whimsical feminine taste, they have made the sweeping change half-heartedly—the "off" being a brim so filmy as to be nearly invisible—a fiange of tulle at first, then one more tangible, until now the season's most striking hats for dress wear come forth with a bravely upturned brim, and are set well back upon the head, disclosing brow and forehead.

But these changes, however radical they may seem, are not all of it, by far. The spirit of this change, that which animates, is deeper—more revolutionary than any one of these modes.

ETERNAL PENININE IS BACK

MEN'S WEAR MORE NATURAL

OF AUTUMN'S FOOTWEAR Styles Shown by Downtown Stores for Fall and Winter Outstanding for Sensible Lines

Men are becoming more and more style conscious, and as a new season arrives most of them have a natural curiosity as to style changes and new style thoughts. For fall and winter the lines of men's suits are assuming more of natural body proportions. No exaggeration or freakishness, no excessively wide shoulders or flat hips—rather a sensible graceful styling, more flattering to the male figure. This extends even to the lapels where we find the note of naturalness in both the popular peak or notch effect.

Coats show a tendency to the more sporty effects, as evidenced by the fancy back, even for business wear, and this is predicted to reach its full development with the spring. The height of crowns shows practically no change, and the brims but a slight tendency toward greater width in the last displayed.

Informal Types of Furniture ... now an interesting vogue

This year fashion shows an increased interest in furniture of almost primative simplicity. For the informal homes of this locality the vogue is especially important. In keeping with this trend Barker Bros. present several simple, smartly countrified types, for example:

MONTEREY FURNITURE—reminiscent of early California. The designs are simple with a crude hand made effect in rich Spanish colors. A Barker Bros.' creation for the many California homes of typical Spanish architecture. Complete ensembles now available. See the display, Sixth Floor.

Two New Furniture Creations

English Furniture of 17th and 18th century..leading fashion

Probably the strongest single fashion trend in furniture is the important vogue for designs of English influence - late seventeenth and eighteenth century pieces predominating. These are modified to meet modern needs, showing new luxury and comfort but keeping authentic lines. This means an increased interest in fine woods - veneers of satinwood, maple burl, butt walnut, and crotch mahogany appear on the new models. See the display of bedroom furniture, fourth floor, dining room furniture, sixth floor and living room furniture, fifth floor.

WILSHIRE UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE -Barker Bros.' own creations all moderately priced - are assembled in a feature display. fifth floor, showing the latest style trends both in line, fabrics and colors.

CUSTOM TAILORED FURNITURE - Barker Bros.' finest productions - features new models for the fall opening, most of them in the new mist blue that is of increasing style importance. Fifth Floor.
